HUMOR IN THESE VERDICTS

Quaint Ideas and Expressions Recorded as Having Been Rendered by Coroner's Juries.

Referring to a verdict recently given by a coroner's jury that death vas "caused by the medical evidence," he British Medical Journal says: This verdlet may be added to those cited in the report of the select com mittee on death certification, where Doctor Ogle is quoted as saying, 'One verdict came before me a little time ago which was this: "A man died from stone in the kidney, which stone he swallowed when lying on a gravel path in a state of drunkenness." That was given as a verdict. I thought some joke had been played, and I wrote down about It, and found it was an absolute fact. Another one is like this: "Child three months old, found dead, but no evidence whether born alive." These novel judgments recall that an up-state newspaper not long ago spoke of taking a murdered man's "post-mortem" statement.
